

Our school is taking part in NSPCC Number Day on Friday 2nd February. This will be an exciting, fun filled day for the children to celebrate all things numbers!

- Children can come to school dressed in number themed outfits e.g. football shirts, birthday badges (please don't spend any unnecessary money – there's a range of innovative ideas on the internet!).
- Any small donations towards the NSPCC will be greatly welcomed. There'll be collection buckets on the gates.
- A special nationwide TTRS contest is taking place that day. Children can take part right up until 7:30pm, so if they wish there's plenty of opportunity for them to boost their score once they get home!
- Any number themed games you can play with your children in the run up to this day would be beneficial e.g. cards, dominoes, darts, board games involving dice.

We hope this will be a successful day in encouraging children to see that numbers aren't just confined to maths lessons!
